

The Spirit of January

Celebrating the Spirit of the New Year at Cascade Village

The start of a new year always feels like standing at the edge of possibility, crisp mountain air filling your lungs, snowflakes glinting in the sunlight, and a sense that anything can happen. January in Bend is more than just another month; it's the beginning of a season filled with renewal, reflection, and excitement. The holidays may have passed, but the energy of celebration continues to sparkle across our community, especially here at Cascade Village, Bend's premier 55+ community, where neighbors come together to enjoy the beauty of winter and the promise of new beginnings.

The Joy of Fresh Starts

January invites us to reset, recharge, and refocus. Whether you're setting New Year's resolutions or simply choosing to start the year with a slow breath and a sense of gratitude, Bend offers endless ways to refresh your mind, body, and spirit. Perhaps your goal for 2026 is to spend more time outdoors and there's no better backdrop for that than the snow-dusted peaks of the Cascades. Mt. Bachelor is in full swing, drawing skiers and snowboarders eager to carve new trails through powdery snow. For those who prefer a more tranquil pace, winter walks along the Deschutes River Trail or snowshoe adventures through Wanoga Sno-Park make for a beautiful day out.

But renewal isn't only about the outdoors, it's about connecting with others and embracing opportunities for growth. At Cascade Village, residents know that each new year brings fresh chances to learn, to laugh, and to live well.

Winter Warmth and Community Connection

Cascade Village truly comes alive in winter. The snowflakes that dust our rooftops seem to sparkle with a sense of camaraderie, as neighbors gather in the clubhouse to share coffee, stories, and laughter. It's a wonderful time to enjoy community dinners, fitness classes, or card games by the fire. For those who made health and wellness resolutions, the fitness center and walking paths offer inviting ways to stay active all season long.

The community calendar at Cascade Village is always full of opportunities to engage, from tai chi and fitness classes to social events like Country Western Line Dancing and Karaoke Night. Each activity is a reminder that living here is about more than just a beautiful setting; it's about friendship, belonging, and the shared joy of being part of something special.

Outside Cascade Village, Bend's winter scene offers scores of outings to enjoy with fellow residents, family, and friends. Downtown Bend's First Friday Art Walk is back, filling galleries and streets with local art, music, and conversation. The Oregon WinterFest, one of Central Oregon's most loved events, returns soon with ice sculptures, lights, and outdoor fun along the Deschutes. And if you're craving small adventures, there's always ice skating at The Pavilion, happy hours at neighborhood breweries, or scenic drives through snowy mountain passes.

A Season for Gratitude and Growth

January's quiet beauty invites reflection. After the rush of the holiday season, the slower pace is a gift, a chance to take stock, set gentle goals, and practice gratitude. Simple pleasures feel even more meaningful this time of year: sunrise over the Cascade peaks, the rhythmic crunch of snow underfoot, the taste of hot cocoa after a walk, or time spent visiting with beloved neighbors. Cascade Village embodies that same peaceful spirit. It's a place where kindness thrives, laughter fills the halls, and new friendships bloom even in the coldest months. Many residents take January as an opportunity to volunteer locally, help a neighbor in need, or organize community gatherings that keep the positive energy flowing all winter long.

Looking Ahead to a Bright 2026

As we start this new year, Cascade Village invites everyone to celebrate the gift of new beginnings, not just with resolutions or plans, but through shared experiences that bring joy and purpose. Try something new this month—join a club you've never attended, explore a nearby trail, start a creative project, or simply enjoy an evening by the fire with good company. Every small moment can be a fresh start when approached with intention and optimism. So bundle up, breathe in that crisp mountain air, and take in all the beauty Bend offers this winter. Here at Cascade Village, Bend's premier 55+ community, we're embracing 2026 with open arms, ready for friendship, connection, and the many simple joys that make life in Central Oregon so special.

Here's to new beginnings, lasting memories, and a wonderful year ahead from your friends and neighbors and all of here at Cascade Village.

COMMUNITY HIGHLIGHTS

Bend WinterFest

Bend's WinterFest returns February 13–15, 2026, transforming Bend's Old Mill District into a three-day celebration of snow, sound, light, and local flavor that defines winter in Central Oregon. From headlining concerts to icy art, marketplaces, and family activities, the festival offers something for locals and visitors of every age.

Dates, Place and Vibe

Bend WinterFest 2026 runs over President's Day weekend, Friday through Sunday, February 13–15, 2026, in the scenic Old Mill District along the Deschutes River. Festival hours are Friday 5–10 p.m., Saturday 11 a.m.–10 p.m., and Sunday 11 a.m.–5 p.m., giving guests full days and evenings to explore music, markets, and winter activities.

Under sparkling lights and often snowy skies, the Old Mill District is reimagined as a winter playground, with fire features, glowing art installations, and bustling pedestrian walkways. Thousands of spirited attendees from Central Oregon and beyond gather here each year to eat, drink, dance, and embrace the season together.

Live Music Headliners

Live music again takes center stage on the Oregrown Main

Stage, with all concerts included in the price of festival admission. The 2026 lineup blends nostalgia, pop culture, and high-energy performance for three nights of outdoor shows in the heart of Bend.

Friday night headliner Brandi Cyrus (8:30–10 p.m.) brings an electrifying DJ set built on country-infused beats, pop hooks, and electronic energy, following her remix of Lainey Wilson's "Wildflowers and Wild Horses." Her set promises a dance-heavy kickoff to WinterFest weekend. Saturday's headliner Tiffany (8:30–10 p.m.) takes the stage as a legendary pop star and the youngest female artist ever to top the Billboard charts, performing iconic hits like "I Think We're Alone Now" alongside her modern rock-leaning material. Saxsquatch warms up Friday's crowd from 7–8 p.m., a 7-foot-tall, sax-wielding producer whose genre-bending live show fuses original tracks, remixes, and crowd participation.

On Saturday from 7–8 p.m., Glass Of Hearts – a Blondie tribute – channels the New Wave spirit and swagger of Debbie Harry, giving fans a high-energy run through Blondie favorites.

Across the grounds, Portland-based DJs like Rymes and Vittr keep the Sparks Stage moving with dreamy house, lo-fi, hip hop, and indie-inspired sets, turning the festival into an all-weekend dance floor.

Ice, Fire, Markets and Activities

WinterFest Light, Ice & Fire Exposition turns the Old Mill District into a glowing gallery, where carvers sculpt massive ice blocks into shimmering works of art across the weekend. Fire pits and artistic flame features return as signature elements, wrapping guests in warmth while the ice installations glitter nearby.

Three major marketplace zones showcase the best of Central Oregon's makers and businesses. In the Cascades Market and Business Showcase, attendees discover outdoor gear, tours, hot tubs and saunas, recreation services, and local experience providers that reflect the active Pacific Northwest lifestyle. The Wonderland and Oregon Lifestyle marketplaces feature over 100 vendors with handmade leatherwork, woodcraft, pottery, jewelry, photography, apparel, rustic art, home goods, specialty foods, wine, and more, creating a one-stop shop for unique, locally inspired finds.

Action sports take the spotlight in the Pump Bump Jam Contest, where snowboarders ride under the lights on Friday night at 6 p.m. and skiers hit the course on Saturday at 6 p.m. for a high-energy jam session with cash prizes. Riders can pre-register at Tactics in downtown Bend or sign up on-site starting at 5 p.m., making the event accessible to both seasoned competitors and ambitious locals.

Family Fun, Runs and Food

WinterFest maintains a strong family focus, with the K9 Kings dog show showcasing the athleticism of working dogs in high-flying, crowd-pleasing performances. The Family Play Zone brings games, interactive vendor booths, and giveaways that keep kids engaged between concerts and activities.

Sunday's Hot Cocoa Run 5K returns as a feel-good highlight, sending runners through a winter course before rewarding them at the finish line with a full hot cocoa bar complete with toppings and a splash of Crater Lake Spirits for adults. Throughout the grounds, food cart pods deliver everything from Greek specialties and pizza to BBQ, dumplings, falafel, and more, matched with local beer and cider from brands like 10 Barrel Brewing, Avid Cider, Crater Lake Spirits, and regional wines.

WinterFest 2026 also continues its community-minded tradition by naming Big Brothers Big Sisters of Central Oregon as the festival beneficiary, connecting the celebration directly to local youth mentorship and volunteerism.

Tickets, Lodging and Getting Ready

Tickets for Bend WinterFest 2026 are available online with single purchases covering all three days of the festival. Options include standard three-day admission, the popular Wine Walk ticket that bundles a commemorative glass and tasting tickets with festival entry, and Hot Cocoa Run registrations that also include access to the event.

For out-of-town family and friends, the Waypoint Hotel serves as an official lodging partner, extending special rates to WinterFest participants. This boutique property near Bend's mid-town and downtown corridor offers a spacious lobby with local brews and ciders on tap, outdoor fire pits, a year-round hot tub, and easy access to the Old Mill District and the wider Central Oregon playground of rivers, lakes, mountains, and golf courses.

With snow-capped Cascade peaks as a backdrop, Bend WinterFest 2026 invites visitors to bundle up, hit the markets and music stages, and experience the full spectrum of Central Oregon's winter culture in one unforgettable weekend.

COMMUNITY HIGHLIGHTS

As winter settles into Bend, it's the perfect time to cozy up, stay safe, and make the most of everything Cascade Village has to offer! Here are a few community updates and reminders to help everyone enjoy the season.

Winter Weather Safety Reminders

Snow and ice can make our walkways and driveways slippery. Please take extra care when walking or driving around the property. Slow down, wear appropriate footwear, and use handrails when available. Our management team works hard to keep common areas safe, but your caution makes all the difference. If you notice any icy spots or unsafe conditions, please report them to management right away.

Pet Registration and Leash Requirements

As a pet-friendly community, we love seeing our furry residents enjoy the outdoors! To keep our grounds safe and pleasant for everyone: 1) Make sure your pets are approved and properly registered with the Cascade Village office. 2) Always keep pets on a leash when in common areas. 3) Remember to clean up after your pets, waste bags are available at designated stations. Keeping everyone's pets properly managed helps maintain a clean and welcoming environment for neighbors and guests alike.

Heat Lamps on the Clubhouse Deck

Want to enjoy the fresh mountain air without feeling the chill? The clubhouse deck now features heat lamps available for resident use! Whether you're reading, sipping coffee, or socializing with neighbors, you can stay warm while taking in the view. Please remember to turn off the lamps after use and keep the area tidy for others to enjoy.

Clubhouse Activity Suggestions

Residents are always encouraged to contact management if they'd like to reserve the space or suggest future community activities.

The clubhouse is a great space to relax, connect, and build community, and we'd love to hear how you want to use it! Residents are encouraged to share ideas for new activities or events they'd enjoy seeing at Cascade Village. Whether it's a class, craft night, holiday event, or something totally new, we welcome your suggestions.

To submit an idea or express interest in organizing an event, please reach out to the management office at (541) 388-0000 or office@cascadevillageliving.com, we're always open to new ways to bring neighbors together.

Mahjong at Cascade Village: Ancient Tiles, New Friendships in Our Clubhouse Community

Mahjong has quickly become one of the liveliest and most welcoming gatherings at the Cascade Village clubhouse, bringing residents together around clacking tiles, shared laughter, and just the right amount of friendly competition. What began as an ancient Chinese pastime has evolved into a beloved American tradition, and the Cascade Village community is now adding its own chapter to that story.

Ancient Roots, Living Game

Mahjong is a tile-based game that originated in China in the mid to late 19th century, growing out of earlier card and tile games during the Qing Dynasty. The earliest recognizable sets appear in 19th-century records, already featuring the familiar characters, bamboo, circles, winds, and dragons that players know today.

In Chinese culture, mahjong quickly became more than a pastime; it was a regular feature of family gatherings, festivals, and neighborhood get-togethers, valued as a way to build relationships and keep minds sharp. The game's name is often translated as "sparrow," a nod either to the lively pace of play or to the bird-like sound of tiles being shuffled across the table.

Crossing the Ocean to America

Mahjong arrived in the United States in the early 1920s, when American importers began bringing tile sets from China and promoting the game as an exotic, modern new entertainment. Within a few years it turned into a national craze, especially among urban, upper-middle-class households that proudly displayed their sets in living rooms and used them as center-pieces for social evenings.

As it spread, Americans adapted the rules and created a distinct style now known as American mahjong, with features such as special "hands," jokers, and scorecards that change annually. The game found a particularly strong home in Jewish American communities, where regular mahjong nights became a cherished social tradition that connected generations of women and their friends.

Culture, Connection and Community

Across cultures, mahjong has carried a shared purpose: to bring people together in a relaxed yet engaging setting. In China it has long been part of holiday visits and neighborhood gatherings, while in the United States it became a way for different ethnic and social groups to build community at kitchen tables and clubhouses alike.

Modern research and senior-living programs now highlight the game's benefits for older adults, noting that regular play supports memory, concentration, and problem-solving skills while reducing feelings of isolation. Because mahjong is played face-to-face by four people, it naturally encourages conversation, storytelling, and the kind of ongoing friendships that are harder to build through more solitary hobbies.

Mahjong at the Cascade Village clubhouse

At Cascade Village, residents are now embracing mahjong as a weekly highlight in the clubhouse, where tables fill with tiles, coffee cups, and easy conversation. New learners are discovering that the basics can be picked up in an afternoon, while experienced players enjoy sharing strategy tips and guiding neighbors through their first winning hands.

The clubhouse setting makes mahjong a warm, open activity. Residents drop in to watch a few rounds, partners rotate so everyone gets to know one another, and many stay after games just to talk and catch up. As more neighbors join in, the sound of tiles being mixed on the table, once heard only in distant Shanghai parlors or 1920s American drawing rooms, now signals something very local: a thriving, connected Cascade Village community built one hand at a time.

A special thank you goes to resident Deborah Topete, who has generously volunteered her time to teach beginners how to play and make everyone feel welcome at the mahjong tables. Her patience, enthusiasm, and willingness to share her knowledge are helping this new clubhouse tradition grow, one new player at a time.

RESTAURANT PROFILE

BOSA Food & Drink is a chef-driven Italian and French restaurant on Bend's westside, known for house-made pastas, Old World-inspired dishes, and a serious wine and cocktail program in an intimate, romantic space. Open for dinner only, it has become one of Bend's most sought-after reservations since opening in 2021.

Origins and Concept

BOSA sits in the historic Bakery Building on Galveston Avenue, just outside downtown Bend, where the design blends old Bend brick and wood with Italian tile for a casual yet lively feel. The concept is "European-style, wine-friendly food" with regional Italian and French influences, designed to feel special but not stuffy.

The restaurant's name comes from Bosa, a town in Sardinia whose river and autumn colors reminded the owners of Bend; they chose the name first, then discovered the visual parallels between the two places. BOSA was years in the making, with its founders planning an osteria-style spot since their days cooking together in Colorado resort kitchens.

Owners and Culinary Team

BOSA is owned and operated by chefs Nate King and Bill Dockter, who first worked together at Cache Cache, a high-end French bistro in Aspen where King eventually ran the kitchen and Dockter served as sous chef. Both are Midwestern natives who gravitated to the Pacific Northwest, reconnecting in Bend to finally open their own restaurant.

Nate King brings deep experience with classical French cuisine and house-made pasta, honed further when he helped launch Cantinetta's Bellevue location as chef de cuisine. His wife, Jenny King, manages the front of house, and is frequently cited as a key part of the warm, welcoming hospitality that regulars associate with BOSA.

Opening Story and Evolution

King and Dockter signed the lease on the old Westside Bakery space in early 2020, just weeks before the COVID-19 shutdown threw their plans into doubt. Their landlord offered a chance to walk away, but the two families decided to push forward, enduring delays and pivots before finally opening in July 2021.

Since opening, BOSA has evolved into a cornerstone of Bend's higher-end dining scene, earning a reputation for polished but relaxed service and a dining room that's often fully booked on prime nights. Dinner remains the focus, with a seasonally changing menu and a reservation-driven model that reinforces its "date-night" identity.

Menu, Drinks and Sourcing

The kitchen focuses on house-made pasta prepared throughout the day in a dedicated pasta room, along with regional Italian and French specialties. Dishes often cited in local write-ups and reviews include rich meatballs, ragù bolognese, cacio e pepe, burrata starters, and classic desserts like tiramisu and panna cotta.

BOSA emphasizes seasonal, local sourcing, working directly with Central Oregon farms such as Windflower Farm, Boundless Farmstead, and Sungrounded Farm, and partnering with local artisans including Bontà (gelato and sorbet), Metolius Teas, Lone Pine Coffee, and Village Baker for bread. The wine list leans heavily on the Pacific Northwest, Italy, and France, with relationships to specific wineries, while the bar offers both creative cocktails and thoughtful non-alcoholic options.

Community Role and Recognition

BOSA is portrayed in local media as a neighborhood anchor on Bend's westside, helping define Galveston Avenue as a dining corridor and collaborating with local farms and producers in ways that keep money and attention in the regional food ecosystem. Its regulars describe the staff as recognizing repeat guests and making the space feel like a local gathering spot as much as a special-occasion restaurant.

The restaurant has earned several notable nods, including being named "Restaurant of the Year" by Bend Source Weekly, which highlighted the chef-owners and front-of-house leadership as central to its success. It has also been voted "Best New Restaurant" in local "Best Of" lists and picked up a Bronze in CommunityVotes Bend's International Food category, while receiving nominations for categories like Best Wine List and Best Date Night in local readers' choice awards.

FAVORITE RECIPE

Garlic Butter Shrimp Parmesan Pasta

A rich garlic butter shrimp Parmesan pasta that you can share.

Ingredients:

- 8 oz pasta (penne, fettuccine, or spaghetti)
- 1 lb shrimp, peeled and deveined
- 3 tablespoons butter, divided
- 3–4 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 ½ cups chicken or vegetable broth (or water + bouillon)
- ½ cup milk, half-and-half, or light cream
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- Salt and black pepper, to taste Optional:
pinch red pepper flakes, Italian seasoning, squeeze of lemon, and chopped parsley for serving

Instructions:

1. Cook the pasta in salted boiling water until al dente, then drain and set aside, reserving ½ cup of the pasta water.
2. Pat shrimp dry, season lightly with salt and pepper, and set aside.
3. In a large skillet or pot, melt 2 tablespoons butter over medium heat; add garlic (and red pepper flakes if using) and cook 1–2 minutes until fragrant but not browned.
4. Add shrimp to the pan in a single layer and cook 2–4 minutes, turning once, until just pink and opaque; remove to a plate.
5. Pour in broth and milk/cream, bring to a gentle simmer, then stir in the cooked pasta and toss until coated, adding a splash of reserved pasta water if needed.
6. Turn heat to low, add remaining 1 tablespoon butter and Parmesan, stirring until melted into a glossy sauce; if it thickens too much, loosen again with broth or pasta water.
7. Return shrimp to the pan, toss to warm through 1–2 minutes, then finish with lemon juice and parsley if using and serve immediately.
8. Easy add-ons:
 - Stir in a handful of spinach or cherry tomatoes near the end for color and freshness.
 - Use extra Parmesan and lemon zest on top for a sharper, restaurant-style flavor.

RESIDENT SPOTLIGHT

—Donna Ries—

Donna Ries recently made the move from Vancouver, Washington to Cascade Village to be closer to her son and his family, a transition she had hoped to make for several years. Even though the timing, housing options, and finances did not always line up, she stayed patient and kept her goal of living near family in sight.

Housing costs in Bend initially made her uncertain she could realistically relocate, but discovering Cascade Village changed the picture and opened the door to an attainable move. With her son's help and guidance, she was able to explore options that balanced lifestyle, budget, and long-term comfort.

Donna's background includes a 24-year career in healthcare as an Executive Assistant to Chief Executives at Peace-Health, where she supported leadership and contributed to a mission-driven organization. Her work required discretion, organization, and a calm, professional presence in a fast-paced environment.

She later embraced a new challenge as a school bus driver for the Camas School District, noting that driving a school bus "takes tenacity on all levels" and that passing the 3-hour CDL state exam is no small feat. Donna's experience behind the wheel reflects her sense of responsibility and commitment to keeping children safe every day.

Introduced to Cascade Village by her son, a local realtor, Donna was excited by the option to create a customized home within a welcoming 55+ community. The ability to personalize her space made the idea of moving not just practical, but truly exciting and hopeful.

She describes her decision-making as "rounding the bases": discovering home options put her on first, meeting residents moved her to second, and learning about organized activities took her to third, with the "home run" being her instant connection with Michael from the sales staff. Their easy rapport made building from afar feel comfortable and well supported.

Donna partnered with Michael remotely on customization decisions and felt confident in every step of the process, from initial design ideas to final details. Regular communication and guidance helped her feel included, even when she was still living out of state.

After move-in, she appreciated the professionalism of the contractors, praising Rolin Atkinson for his expert work on her dog's fence and paver patio and Eldon Searles, for guiding her through interior questions and troubleshooting. Donna notes that each person she worked with showed genuine pride in their craft and a desire to make sure her home was just right.

Now happily settled, Donna describes the residents she first met via Facetime and in person as friendly, welcoming, and quick to make her feel at home. She enjoys the organized activities and appreciates the sense of security and connection that comes from knowing neighbors by name.

She encourages other 55+ adults seeking affordability, a warm atmosphere, and a strong sense of community to consider Cascade Village as their new home. For Donna, the move has meant living close to family while also gaining a community that feels like an extended family of its own.

"If you're 55+ and looking for a community that offers a wonderful atmosphere, affordability, and a true sense of belonging, Cascade Village is the place for you."

If you'd like to be featured in a future Resident Spotlight, please email us at: office@cascadevillageliving.com to share your story.

CITY OF SISTERS

Sisters, Oregon is a small Old West-style town at the foot of the Cascade Mountains that makes an ideal base for scenic drives, outdoor adventure, and relaxed strolls through a lively, walkable downtown. Visitors come for its rustic charm, year-round festivals, and quick access to lakes, waterfalls, rivers, and ski slopes in every direction.

Old West Town and Culture

Sisters' downtown is designed with an 1880s Western aesthetic, with wooden storefronts, boardwalks, galleries, cafes, and boutiques clustered within a few easy-walking blocks. Shops like Hood Avenue Art, Paulina Springs Books, Sisters Bakery, and Sisters Coffee Company give the town a cozy, destination feel despite its small size.

The town is also known for signature events, including the world-renowned Sisters Rodeo, the Sisters Folk Festival, and the Sisters Harvest Faire, which draw visitors from across Oregon and beyond. Year-round, Village Green City Park and Cliff Clemens Park provide in-town green spaces for picnics, playground time, and community gatherings.

Scenic Drives and Viewpoints

Sisters sits at the start of the McKenzie Pass–Santiam Pass Scenic Byway, an 82-mile loop that winds through Cascade peaks, lava fields, old-growth forest, rivers, and waterfalls. Highlights include the Dee Wright Observatory, a lava-rock lookout with panoramic views of roughly a dozen volcanoes, and viewpoints of North Sister, Middle Sister, Mt. Washington, and Mt. Jefferson on clear days.

Drivers and cyclists can also follow the McKenzie Pass Scenic Bikeway, which climbs through a dramatic 2,000-year-old lava flow before descending into dense forest along the McKenzie River. From town, routes toward Smith Rock and the high desert give a very different landscape, combining river canyons, rimrock, and wide-open Central Oregon skies.

Lakes, Rivers and Waterfalls

Within a short drive of Sisters, visitors can reach Clear Lake, Suttle Lake, and the Metolius River, all prized for crystal-clear water, fishing, paddling, and lakeside camping. Suttle Lake offers boating, swimming, and lakeside trails, while the Metolius River is famous for its deep sapphire color and easy riverside path near Camp Sherman.

Waterfall lovers have several classic hikes nearby, including Sahalie Falls and Koosah Falls on the McKenzie River, which can be seen from accessible viewpoints or linked by a 2.4–2.9-mile loop trail. Proxy Falls, in the Willamette National Forest, is another favorite: a short loop leads to a dramatic two-tiered cascade dropping into a mossy canyon.

Hiking, Biking, and Wilderness Access

Sisters is a gateway to the Three Sisters Wilderness, a 281,000-acre protected area with about 260 miles of trails past glaciers, alpine meadows, lava fields, and mountain lakes. Popular outings range from easy walks like the Whychus Creek Scenic Overlook to strenuous peak attempts such as the South Sister Trail, which climbs nearly 5,000 feet for sweeping summit views.

Closer to town, Whychus Creek trails and the Metolius River Trail to Wizard Falls offer family-friendly hikes with river views and a stop at the Wizard Falls Fish Hatchery. Road and gravel cyclists can choose challenging routes like Sisters-to-McKenzie Pass or more moderate rides toward Smith Rock, with constant views of Cascades and high desert scenery.

Winter Fun and Nearby Resorts

In winter, Sisters serves as a relaxed base camp for Hoodoo Ski Area, which offers roughly 800 acres of family-friendly ski and snowboard terrain on the slopes of Santiam Pass. Cross-country skiing, snowshoeing, and sledding are available in surrounding Deschutes National Forest sno-parks, putting snowy forests and mountain vistas within easy reach.

Year-round resorts such as Black Butte Ranch and accommodations around Suttle Lake add golf, spa services, horseback riding, and stargazing nights to the mix. Combined with Sisters' own cafes, breweries, and artisan shops, these amenities make the town an appealing home base for both quick getaways and longer stays.

OFF-BROADWAY MUSICALS
BY ALEX EATON-SALNERS / EDITED BY WILL SHORTZ

Alex Eaton-Salners is an in-house attorney for Sandisk, a technology company in Milpitas, Calif. This is his 54th crossword for The Times. When he's not making puzzles, Alex has been spending a lot of time lately at Activate, a sort of "hybrid puzzle room/sports simulator" that offers a mix of co-operative and competitive games at about 100 locations around the world. — W.S.

BY GENE LOUISE DE VERA / EDITED BY WILL SHORTZ

Gene Louise De Vera is a data scientist in Quezon City, Philippines. One night when he couldn't sleep he was browsing the internet and stumbled on a crossword — which he liked. Soon after, he subscribed to The Times's crossword. Then he discovered he enjoys making puzzles even more than solving them. This is his fifth one for the paper and his first Sunday. — W.S.
