Bend, Oregon: A Top Ten Retirement Destination and Its Must-See Landmarks

Bend, Oregon has earned national recognition as one of Forbes' Top Ten Places to Retire, celebrated for its unique blend of natural beauty, vibrant culture, and endless recreation opportunities. For retirees seeking adventure, community, and a high quality of life, Bend stands out as a premier choice in the Pacific Northwest.

Why Forbes Ranks Bend Among the Best

Forbes highlights Bend's appeal for active retirees, citing its excellent access to both water and land activities, world-class golf, and a lively, welcoming atmosphere. With a population of around 100,000, Bend offers the amenities of a midsize city while maintaining the charm of a mountain town. The median home price is higher than the national average, reflecting the area's desirability, but many find the investment worthwhile for the lifestyle Bend provides.

Natural Landmarks and Outdoor Adventures

Bend is synonymous with outdoor adventure. The city is nestled along the Deschutes River, where residents and visitors enjoy fishing, kayaking, paddleboarding, and leisurely river floats during the warm summer months. The Deschutes River Trail, which winds through town, is perfect for walking or biking and offers scenic views of both the river and the Cascade Mountains.

Just outside the city, Mount Bachelor offers some of the best skiing and snowboarding in the region, with terrain suitable for all skill levels. In the summer, the mountain transforms into a hub for hiking, mountain biking, and zip-lining. For those who love hiking, Tumalo Falls is a must-see. The short trail leads to a spectacular waterfall, and more challenging hikes branch out for those seeking adventure. Smith Rock State Park, north of Bend, is a world-renowned destination for rock climbing and offers dramatic vistas and miles of trails.

COMMUNITY HIGHLIGHTS

Unique Attractions and Local Culture

Bend's High Desert Museum is a local gem, blending indoor and outdoor exhibits that showcase the region's wildlife, Native American history, and pioneer heritage. The museum's live animal habitats and interactive displays make it a favorite for visitors of all ages.

Another quirky landmark is the Peterson Rock Garden & Museum, featuring intricate sculptures made from local stones and a sanctuary for peacocks. For panoramic city views, Pilot Butte State Park—a dormant volcanic cinder cone in the heart of Bend—offers a rewarding hike or drive to the summit.

Downtown Bend is alive with culture, boasting art galleries, boutiques, and some of Oregon's best restaurants and craft breweries. The Bend Ale Trail is the largest beer trail in the West, with over 30 breweries to explore. Live music and performances can be enjoyed at the historic Tower Theatre or the Hayden Homes Amphitheater, Oregon's largest outdoor music venue.

A Lifestyle Tailored for Retirees

Beyond its natural and cultural attractions, Bend is known for its strong sense of community and active lifestyle. Whether it's golfing on one of the area's pristine courses, joining a local hiking group, or participating in the annual Pole Pedal Paddle race, retirees find endless ways to stay engaged and healthy.

Bend's climate features four distinct seasons, with warm summers and snowy winters, making it ideal for year-round recreation. The city is also famously pet-friendly, welcoming retirees who want to share their adventures with furry companions.

Bend's combination of breathtaking scenery, vibrant community, and abundant activities has rightfully secured its place among Forbes' Top Ten Places to Retire. For those seeking a retirement destination that offers both relaxation and excitement, Bend, Oregon is truly special—a place where every day can be an adventure.

ORGANIZATION HIGHLIGHT

St. Charles Medical Center - Bend: Serving the Central Oregon Community

St. Charles Medical Center in Bend, Oregon stands as the largest hospital in Central Oregon and serves as a vital healthcare resource for residents throughout the region. Established with a mission to "care for all or care for none," the facility has evolved from humble beginnings to become a comprehensive medical center offering a wide range of services.

History and Development

The first St. Charles hospital was built in 1922 on "Hospital Hill" in downtown Bend, named in honor of Bishop Charles Joseph O'Reilly, the first bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Baker. The facility was initially operated by five Sisters of St. Joseph. After relocating to a more modern facility in 1951, the hospital underwent significant expansion, with the current Bend hospital opening in 1975 after becoming a community not-for-profit organization. While it maintained an affiliation with the Catholic Church until February 2010, the compassionate care philosophy established by the Sisters of St. Joseph continues to guide the hospital's approach today.

Current Facilities and Services

Today, St. Charles Bend is a 292-bed acute care hospital and the only Level II Trauma Center east of the Cascades in Oregon. The hospital provides emergency services 24 hours a day and offers a comprehensive range of medical services to residents throughout Central and Eastern Oregon.

As part of the larger St. Charles Health System, the Bend campus works alongside hospital facilities in Redmond, Madras, and Prineville, as well as numerous family care clinics throughout the region. The health system includes specialized centers for cancer care, heart and lung treatment, women's health, and behavioral health services.

Services for Seniors

St. Charles Medical Center - Bend offers several specialized services that benefit senior patients:

- Emergency and Trauma Care: As a Level II Trauma Center, the hospital provides critical emergency services for seniors experiencing acute medical issues.
- Specialized Treatment Centers: Seniors have access to the Heart & Lung Center in Bend, Cancer Centers in Bend and Redmond, and Behavioral Health clinics throughout Central Oregon.
- Comprehensive Care Network: Through St. Charles Medical Group, seniors can access approximately 425 providers covering primary care and more than 30 specialties across 48 locations.
- Community Benefit Programs: In 2022, St. Charles Bend Campus provided more than $101,890,449 in community benefit to the population it serves, including charity care, unreimbursed costs of Medicaid and other public programs, and community benefit activities.

The hospital's commitment to serving all members of the community, regardless of ability to pay, reflects its ongoing dedication to the founding mission established by the Sisters of St. Joseph nearly a century ago. For seniors in Central and Eastern Oregon, St. Charles Medical Center - Bend represents an essential healthcare resource providing both routine and specialized care.
